ERRATA

TACITUS

Edited by FRANK BURR MARSH, PH.D., Professor of Ancient History; and HARRY J. LEON, PH.D., Associate Professor of Classical Languages
Both of the University of Texas

The student need no longer be required to obtain the three—and even four—books which heretofore were necessary for the complete course in Tacitus. This edition, unique in its class, contains the material for a varied and comprehensive study, since it makes possible several different combinations from the Annals, Agricola, and Germania.

Selections from the Annals furnish a vivid, coherent description of the characters of Tiberius and Nero and of their courts. Most accounts of foreign wars are omitted.

The Agricola is given complete with all changes made necessary by the discovery of the Toledo and Iesi manuscripts.

In conformity with current practice in American colleges, the Germania is offered without the last sixteen chapters.

546 pages - 5 x 7 1/4 inches - $2.25 list

"This is a first-rate book. All the editorial work is scholarly and up-to-date. In the notes on controversial passages the explanation preferred is clearly stated and followed by a brief reference to other views. The introduction is excellent, both in style and in matter."—THE CLASSICAL REVIEW
